Grosvenor of Ohio Tackles Mills of Texas Concerning Free Sugar.

The Kentucky Senatorial Situation is Earnestly Discussed, With Carlisle as Favorite.

Judge Bryant's Confirmation Delayed. But the Chances are in His Favor-Texas Postal Matters.

A Lively Tilt. Special to the Gazette

WASHINGTON, May 12 .- There was quite a tilt in the house to-day between Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio and Mr. Mills, the former charging that two years ago Mr. Havemeyer, the leader of the sugar trust, captured the ways and means committee and got them to report a bill for "free sugar." This assertion was denied by Mr. Mills and others. The sparring continued for several minutes, Mr. Grosvenor trying to fasten on the committee of last year a collusion with Mr. Havemeyer. Mr. Mills and several other Democrats indignantly denied the assertions of Grosvenor. Finally the squabble quieted down. Mr. Mills said he regretted such personalities. He intended no personal reflections, and for himself while he would discuss the tariff question as one of public interest affecting the public, he would not assail anyone. He further said that he didn't believe any gentleman on the ways and means com mittee of last congress had been improperly approached, Mr. Mc-Kipley also coincided with this coincided with this belief, and the brief but spicy sparring

He Pays the City a Visit in September Last and Again This Month-Improvements Noted.

Last week Benismio S. Brigg and

Swire Smith of Yorkshire, England,

managing directors of the Land Mortgage bank of Texas, accompanied by the manager of the company, Mr. C. H. Silliman of this city, visited Austin, San Antonio, Laredo and other cities on business for the company. Learning that the gentlemen were greatly pleased with Laredo, a GAZETTE reporter called on Mr. Silliman last night and questioned him about the trip. Mr. Silliman spoke freely and candidly about the matter, and if the people of Laredo or in-vestors in property there had heard him they would have been very much pleased. "I was in Laredo in September, 1889, and invested $50,000 for my company," said Mr. Silliman, "and when I saw the city again last week I was surprised. A building on which we had a loan of $5000 sold a short time back for $1,000 and all the investments we had made were most entisfactory. Mesars. Brigg and Smith were more than satisfied, and so expressed themselves. Laredo is a wonderful city with a wonderful but at the same time substantial growth. It was only two or three years ago that the population was not over 3000; now it is 8000 or 9000. In September I don't believe there was a residence on the Heights but now at least fifty residences of orn this beautiful site, and these residences are of the most substantial character, most of them of brick costing from $5000 to $15,000. The electric car like is running, the fine new hotel, the Hamilton, is in full blast, and it is a good hotel too. At the great shops of the Mexican National 465 hands employed, and you may imagine what that means for a city. A large tannery and boot and shoe factory, the buildings of brick, will soon be completed. Work has begun on a large woolen mill, and other enterprises are under way. Laredo has an immense territory tribu-s tary to her with practically no rival, for El Paso, the nearest town competing for the same trade is 700 miles away. Laredo is very attractive, and contains a population of very enterprising men. We were all very much impressed with what we saw there.
